Paul G. Boorman Trail

In a community of 78,000, the addition of something as pristine as the Paul G. Boorman Trail is welcome news. Adding 9,200 feet of recreational trail to the City of Longview, the trail offers a beautiful setting where residents and visitors alike can enjoy the great outdoors.

In total, the trail is made up of 2.85 miles of winding paths running alongside Grace Creek, scenic bridges and underpasses, five trail entrances with ample parking, multiple rest stops along the trail path, and the Lois Jackson Park located along the route.

Designed by KSA Engineers, the Paul G. Boorman Trail is a prime example of how the KSA team is 'Building Stronger Communities'... one project at a time.
